Address: Remington College
1800 Eastgate Dr.
Garland TX 75041

Closure Date: 10/10/2018

Notes: All records will remain at the main campus.

As this is not a teach-out or complete closure, do you still need this information? The student listing will not be for this location only, it will have all students enrolled at the main campus.

Student Arrangements: we actually have three buildings that span over two addresses. In the past, the State of Ohio required state approval for all addresses at any campus. Although ACCSC had always approved the location as one, we had state approval for two "locations", the second being considered a learning center. Recently, Ohio has changed its regulations and no longer requires approval for the "learning center", so we only have authorization for the main campus. Again, ACCSC has always recognized the campus as one location, so we end-dated the second address (the annex). All aid has been processed through the main campus.

All students will complete their program of study at this and the main location. No changes will be made to student programs.

Student Arrangements: Subsequent to closure of the Preble County Learning Center, all students had the opportunity to complete their program of study at Sinclair either online (if the program was available online) or at another Sinclair location. To ease the transition for PCLC students, Sinclair provided scholarships for the 135 non-dual credit PCLC students who attended PCLC in Fall 2017 and/or Spring 2018 terms. There was be a $2,000 scholarship for each of the 16 students in programs of study that could have been completed at PCLC, and a $500 scholarship for the 119 PCLC students in programs of study that would have required them to complete their program at another Sinclair location.

Closure Date: 05/07/2014

Notes: prior to closure A&M-Texarkana faculty met with students to make certain all students were ready to complete face-to-face coursework and begin student teaching.

Student Arrangements: Yes, all students completed their program of study. Closure did not occur until the cohort of students completed all face-to-face education courses at Hallsville the Fall 2013. In the Spring 2014, Students then went on to complete student teaching experiences in assigned districts and the last course required was already an online course. Therefore the last semester students completed their program as they would have if the Hallsville site still existed. The only difference was that we did not accept a new cohort of students on the Hallsville campus.

Closure Date: 08/17/2018

School is covered by a state tuition recovery fund.

Notes: The Arizona Summit Law School (ASLS) closed without warning and its students were left stranded. Students showed up for school to find locked doors at the building's entrance. ASLS ceased providing educational instruction on August 17, 2018, and this cessation was not due to a normal vacation period or a natural disaster affecting the institution or its students. ASLS was locked out of its instructional facilities for allegedly failing to pay rent. ASLS canceled its fall semester after losing its accreditation with the American Bar Association (ABA) in June and is in the process of appealing the revocation of its accreditation. ASLS was on probation by the ABA since March 2017 for being out of compliance with the ABA's admission policies and academic standards and for failing to maintain a rigorous program. ASLS has a letter of credit in place with the Arizona State Board for Private Postsecondary Education in the amount of $1,168,800.00.

Student Arrangements: The ABA directed ASLS to develop individualized plans to help current students finish out their law degrees. The ABA rejected the teach-out plan that ASLS had submitted because the plan was incomplete and "not ripe for approval." Some students opted to transfer to Florida Coastal School of Law (ASLS' sister school) and the University of North Dakota School of Law.
